NEW REASONS FOR THE NEW HOUSES

ATTORNEYS ADVANCING SOME VERY PLAUSIBLE ONES.

Attorney Quinnan Asked a License Because His Client Once Occupied a Seat in the Common Council. Attorney John B. Jordan Went Him One Better and Asked for a License for His Democratic Client Because He Was Elected to Council from a Republican Ward.

License court opened yesterday morning with Judges Archbald, Gunter and Edwards on the bench. Great progress was made in disposing of the applications. No witnesses were heard with reference to the remonstrances that came up for consideration yesterday.

There was strong opposition to the application of Julius Ebersky, in the First ward of Blakely. Attorney M. F. Sande appeared for the applicant and Attorney James H. Torrey against it. The remonstrance was signed by some of the most prominent residents of that part of Blakely. There was also opposition to the application of John Skerszen from the same ward of Blakely.

The application of A. J. Uder for a license on Lincoln street in Dickson City was withdrawn and the court decided that it would take arguments for and against granting a license to John Minarki, John Mako and George Ferto, also of Dickson City. The applications of Edward D. McPade, Edwin Banfield and John J. Flynn for hotel licenses in Dunmore, were attacked on the ground that the places are unnecessary.

When Old Forge was reached Attorney Vidaver withdrew the application of Philip Schwartz. Objection was made to granting a license to Jacob Goodman, also of Old Forge.

NORTH SCRANTON CASES.

Objection was made to granting a license to John J. Martin at 2727 North Second street, this city, against whom several strong remonstrances were lodged. Mr. Martin was refused a license one year ago because it was alleged he had been guilty of violating the liquor laws. Attorney George Benedict appeared for the remonstrators and Volburg & Dawson for the petitioner. Mr. Benedict urged that the place is within about one hundred feet of an old house and close to a church. He thought it unnecessary and a menace to the neighborhood.

John H. Von Storch appeared for David Teitel, who wants a license for a new house at Wayne avenue and School street. Attorney C. W. Dawson appeared against the license and produced a map showing that the proposed drinking place is close to two churches and near No. 25 second. John B. Phelan, who was proprietor of the Palentine hotel which was burned down several months ago, wants a license for the building on Main street, opposite Dean street. Attorney John P. Scragg presented the request to court. Attorney E. W. Dawson presented objections. He said the building is entirely unsuited for hotel purposes.

Charles Raine wants a license for a new house at Boulevard and Olyphant road. He was represented by Attorney George O'Neil. Attorney Gibbs presented a number of reasons why the place should not be licensed in addition to those set forth in the voluminous remonstrance. Mr. O'Neil sold the petition was pulled-out by the addition of names of women and persons not living in the neighborhood and Attorney Gibbs retorted by saying that one of the signers for the license, M. C. Calkins, thought he was signing a petition for a sewer.

DAWSON'S CAUSTIC SHOT.

Attorney Zimmerman represented Stephen Moslyar, who wants to open a hotel at Summit avenue and 3rd street. Mr. Zimmerman said the opposition to the license was worked up by Albert Buhara, who is a hotelkeeper of the neighborhood and does not want rivalry. He made quite an extended plea in favor of Mr. Moslyar. Attorney C. W. Dawson, who represented the remonstrators, said Mr. Zimmerman was probably induced to make such an urgent plea because he is the owner of the building. He then described the building for which the license is asked as a mere shanty-out that would be a splendid place for wood-chuck hunting.

Attorney M. P. Cawley appeared for the application of James T. Kearney, who for five years has been asking for a hotel license at 1623 Jackson street. "Why request this application every year?" asked the court. "The conditions are the same now as they were last year and the year before," it was indicated rather broadly to Mr. Cawley that the court did not care to hear anything about the matter.

When the application of William Deschler for a hotel at South Main avenue and Luzerne street was reached the court wanted to know how often they would have to hear the merits of that particular case. Dismissed. Attorney W. H. Lewis, who appeared for the applicant, said he would not take up the time of the court for long. He

SIX LACKAWANNA CASES DECIDED

LOCAL JUDGES UPHELD IN EACH INSTANCE.

Nichols Appeal was One of the Cases Passed Upon—It is Hoped That This Finally Disposes of the Last of the Litigation Growing Out of the Dr. Hiram Nichols Will—Mrs. Ferdinand Wins in Her Litigation Against the City—Other Cases That Were Decided.

The Supreme court at Philadelphia yesterday handed down its opinion in six Lackawanna cases. In each instance the judgment of the court of this county was sustained.

One of the most important, or at least the most interesting of the six cases is the celebrated Nichols appeal. It is hoped that this finality of litigation that has been before the court for years. The appeal was taken to the Supreme court by James Nichols, son of the late Dr. Hiram Nichols, of Clark's Green.

When Dr. Nichols died he made no provision in his will for his son, James, and the latter has since been fighting the heirs. Countless suits of all kinds have been the result. Dr. Nichols, in his will left his property to his daughter, Mrs. N. S. Davis, and Mrs. Mary Zimmerman, his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Asa Nichols.

James brought proceedings to have the will set aside and to secure the production of another will which he said favored him, but in both instances he was defeated.

Then he asked the court to secure for him the deed of a piece of land at Clark's Green known as the Rose farm, which consists of forty acres. He alleged that his father made a deed of this land and gave it to him, but he afterwards gave it back to his father for safe keeping. After the latter's death the document could not be found and Nichols asked the court to order another deed made for him.

Judge Archbald decided that the testimony did not warrant such action upon his part and refused to do so. Thereupon James Nichols took an appeal to the Supreme court. During the recent Lackawanna week at the Supreme court the case was argued by Attorneys Volburg and Dawson for Nichols and Attorney John P. Scragg for the estate.

In the equity proceedings of Johanna Ferdinand against the city of Scranton the decision of Judge Gunter was upheld by the Supreme court. Mrs. Ferdinand purchased a property on Ninth street, alongside of which was a narrow passageway that had for years been used as an alley. This she closed up. The city threatened to tear down her buildings and the court was asked to restrain the city from such action. Judge Gunter made the injunction permanent and the city took an appeal to the Supreme court and lost. The passageway will now remain closed.

In the suit of Jurisch and others against the Sterling Cycle company the decision of Judge Archbald was upheld. A. W. Jurisch conducted a sporting goods store on Spruce street and his stock was damaged by the fire at the sale, his sisters, Mrs. Calkley and Miss Jurisch, becoming the owners through this sale. The business was continued under the name of Jurisch and some time later the cycle company levied on the goods to satisfy a claim of $2,300 against A. W. Jurisch. Mrs. Calkley and Miss Jurisch took steps to prevent this seizure of their goods, and when the case was first tried the jury disagreed. On the second trial the verdict was in favor of the women, and Judge Archbald refused a new trial. An appeal was taken from this decision and the Supreme court now sustains it. When the case was argued at Philadelphia Attorneys John P. Scragg and R. A. Zimmerman appeared for Mrs. Calkley and Miss Jurisch and Attorneys Watson, Diel and Kemmerer for the cycle company.

Other cases decided yesterday were: Fellows vs. Cornelius Smith et al.; C. P. Lackawanna, decree affirmed; Miller vs. Cramer et al.; C. P. Lackawanna, decree affirmed; John Church Organ company vs. Guernsey, C. P. Lackawanna, decree affirmed.
